Michigas and the wide

One Sunday Higgings came into my office and sat down without a word. For some minutes he sat still, watching me latently as if he was trying to make out by the sound of my pen what I was writing.

"Squire," said he at length, "did I ever tell you about my scrape with the widow Horry, up here on the river?"

"Never did," said I, laying down my pen, "let's hear it."

"They're curious creatures, widows is," said he in a meditative tone, "and the more you study about 'em the more you don't know about 'em. What was this thing I've read about in Egypt, or some other country, that nobody could unriddle?"

"The Sphinx, probably." I replied.

con't know about 'em. What was this thing I've read about in Egypt, or some other country, that nobody could unriddle?"

"The Sphinx, probably," I replied.

"Well," he continued, "that was a widow as sure as you ever had a granny. Everything cles in the earth has been found out but them, and they're as much a mystery to-day as the length of the North Pole. You may read the history of the world from Genesis to Revelations, and you'il find that widows has been at the bottom or top of five quarters of all the devilment that's been cut up. Was you ever in love with one?"

"Lots of them," asid I.

"You're a great gander—that's what you are," said he. "A man that loves one and gets over it won't never get hit by another, if he's got as much sense as a ground hog. I don't consider I've got any sense at all, but I'm a little grain too smart to let another of them get all the trumps on me. The widow Horry that I was a speaking of, is a little the handsomest woman I reckon that ever looked a man into fits, and I ought to be a judge, for I've seen lots of pretty women in my day. She was about twenty-five years old when I went up there to work, just in the bloom of her beauty and as full of deviltry as a three year old mule colt. There was a ball over at Jenkins', and of course I went, for I always go where there's any fun going on, and generally act the fool before I get away, of course. The widow was there, dressed as fine as Solomon's lilles, and flying around as frieky as a young lamb in a rye patch. I got introduced to her and asked her to dance with me, and when she funshed her eyes at me and said 'yes,' I jumped up like I had set down on a griddle. You may talk about sensation, but when she took hold of my hand and I sorter squeezed it, I felt a sensation as big as a load of wood, and it kept running up and down my back like a aquirrel with a hawk after him. I'm very tond of dancing; but I'll be hanged if I know whether I enjoyed it that night and of commence feeling curious behind my aurs and up and down my back ag myself conspicuous or cutting up any extras, as I'm in the habit of doing when

"Mice and men, Burns says," I answered.

"Well a 'ce and rats is all one, and so is men say. fools cometimes, as I have found out in my travels. I was so care she would have me I went off and spent all my money for the clothes, thinking I would have them ready for the wedding—and I did! Confound that widow! I say! Confound all widows! Thursday evening come at last, though it was a long time about it, and over I went dressed into fits, and feeling as big as Josh Raynor did who, he was elected coroner. I got there about dark, and found a right smart crowd collected, which was not on the bills, but I felt as big and as good as the rest of 'em. for I marched in like a blind mule into a potato patch, and took a seat by the fire. I didn't men anything of the widow, but I kept looking for her to come in and send for me, and passed away the time by cussin't the crowd to myself, thinking they had no business there, and I would not get to talk to say woman a bic. Presently the door opened and in walked Pelly and that long legged Doctor, and a whole team of boys and girls fixed up savagely, I tell you. I locked around for a fiddler, they were going to have a ball, but wondered what they kept so still for, and was about proposing a reel, when up gits a little prencher, and before you could swallow a live cyster, he had Polly and the Doctor married fister than a Mexican greaser confe tie a bull's horm. I was so completely Eummuked that I set there with my mouth open like I was my eyes looked like billiand bats till the casemony was over, when I jumped up and bellowed:

"I Sorbid the concern from being constituted F" cther long word. Whils I was study'n about thee, I asked the doctor's saddle bass sitting up in the corner, so I waited till they went into supper, and then I get the bags and locked to see what I could discover. Nearly the first thing I saw was a piece of lunar caustic. I slipped it into my pocket, for I had my plan as soon as I saw it. Well, I watched around till I saw one of the girls go to to the mail with a pitcher, so I plan as soon as I saw it. Well, I watched around till I saw one of the girs go to to the pall with a pitcher, so I went out and asked her what she was going to do with it. She and she was going to carry it into the room for the Doctor and Polly to wash their faces in. I kept talking to her while she was filling the pitcher, and when she turned her head I dropped the caustic into it. It was then about bed time, and I got my hat and put out, but i couldn't help laughing all the way home, whenever I'd think about it next morning.

"Well, 'Squire, they do say that when that couple waked up next morning they both had the hardest kind of fits, each one thinking they had been eleeping with a nigger. Oh, it was rich! He a cussin' and tearing up things, and she a faintin' and comia' to and going off again, and me not there to see it. They made such an unearthly make that the folks broke into the room to see what was the matter, and there they was with their faces and hands all as black as the inside of an old stove pipe. I'd give half my interest in the tother world just to have been at some eafe place where I could have seen the whole row. As soon as they found cut that they was really the same folks that married the night before, they called for warm water and soap, but just here the doctor happened to think about the pitcher and took it to the door to see what was the matter. There was a little piece of caustic that had not dissolved, and as econ as he saw it, he says:

"It's no use washing, Pelly. All the soap in New York city wouldn't wash that black off."

"That was the truth, 'Squire, soap and water had no more effect than it would

"That was the truth, 'Squire, soap and water had no more effect than it would on a native born African, and all the on a native born African, and all the chance was to wait and let it wear off. How long it took them to get white again, I never found out, but one thing I do know," he concluded, getting up to go out, "the next time I saw the doctor I had the hardest fight, and come the nighest getting whaled that I ever did in all my born days!"

Curiosities of the Smithsonian Insti-

We had the pleasure on Saturday of meeting Clerk Mills, the celebrated American scilptor, who arrived from St. Augustine, Florida, where he has been the past month in the interests of the Smithsonian Institute. The object of his mission to St. Augustine was to chain casts of the Indian chiefs confined as prisoners of the government in the tain casta of the Indian chiefs confined as prisoners of the government in the fort at that place. This work has been completed by him, and he brought with him perfect casts of the sixty-four Indian chiefs at present confined there. We learn that these casts are taken by an entirely new process of his own invention, and which he has patented. The Indians were remarkably superstitious, and showed a reluctance to submit to the operation until "Long Wolf," a noted chief, who had been several times to Washington and had conversed with the "Great White Father," and is, consequently, somewhat more civilized, was induced to have his classic features cast. The operation is thus described: An elastic cap is first drawn tightly over the head, completely covering the hair, but cont through this feolic without a ling myself completions or cutting up servers. managers of that institution to obtain the casts of representatives of every race in the world. A number have already been obtained, among them casts of two Esquimaux, a man and a woman, which were taken by him some time since. The casts of the Indians are all nearly packed and boxed, and brought along by him, together with a number of other curicalties, the principal of which is a large sword-fish, measuring eighteen feet in length and two and a half feet across the middle. This fish was caught by seems persons fishing for turtles near St. Augustine, and was purchased by Lieut. EFFORMATION FOR GRANGESS. Questions and Answers,

MASSER'S OFFICE, STATE GRANGE,
CHAPPELL'S DETAN NEWBERRY, S. C.
How can "dormant" Granges be revived? No Grange ceases to exist until its charier is revocad a surrendered, and the officers are incumbent until their successors are elected and isstalled. The Worthy Master of the National Grange has ruled that a quorum may be as low as seven (7) members. Consequently, any seven members of a dormant Grange can revive it by the following process: Learn from the Secretary of the Pomona Grange, if one in the county, and if not, from Secretary of State Grange, the exact status of said Grange upon the books, viz: The last report and payment. Then make the reports and remittances of dues required to "clear" the Grange on the books, and get a receipt and certificate for same. Take this receipt or certificate for same. Take this receipt or certificate to the Worthy Master of State Grange, and upon it he will give to the Worthy Master of said Grange the A. P. W. Then the Grange is hopelessly "dormant," and members cannot get "demits," how are they to act to be relieved from the "dormant" Grange and connect themselves with other Granges? In such cases, let the Patron pay to the Secretary of the Pomona, if one, or State Grange, the amount of his individual dues which have accrued since he last paid his dues to his Secretary of subordinate Grange, the will receive a receipt and certificate for same which he can use, "in lieu of demit," to join any subordinate Grange he may wish.

demit," to join any subordinate Grange he may wish.

All Granges that fail to report to officers of Pomona or State Grange, and persist in it, subject themselves to a revocation of charter. When said officers have exhausted their effort to revive "dormant" Granges and are satisfied it is hopeless, they should then report to Master of State Grange, so that he can take steps to revoke the charters and stop them from any longer cumbering the order.

Parents and guardians wishing to secure the scholarship in the "Carolina Military Inritute," comprised in the very liberal after of Col. J. P. Thomas, superintendent, will communicate with Col. R. M. Sims, Secretary of the Executive Committee of the State Grange, at Columbia, giving a full statement of the age, name, county, post office, progress in elementary studies, &c., &c., of their sons or wards desiring the appointments. Should applications be in excess of number of scholarships, the committee will hold a meeting and examination to guide them in awarding the scholarship. All applicants will be notified of meeting of committee and of its final award.

Having just reached home after a long continual absence, and a sick family, preclude attention being given to other matters that will be noticed in next week's "Grange Department."

From the Lexington Dispatch.

As you, no doubt, have seen through the Charleston and Columbis papers, the meeting at Anderson was a grand success, I will not attempt a description, believing that most of your readers have received the news through the same channel. I always feel a delicacy in writing for publication, as some one is always ready to criticise either the composition or motive of a writer. But in the position which I am compelled to occupy I am necessarily compelled to ask the favor of a small space in your paper occasionally, to extend information to the members of the Grange, in whom I shall ever feel a deep and abiding interest. In the face of duty sel the force of the post's words:

duty.

The State Grange I am pleased to say by making but a few small salaried officers, and the good engineering of the Worthy Master, has been relieved from all her back indebtedness. We can now expect to see her rise like the phenix and go forward to a presperous future.

THE PROPHET'S WILL.

Two Millions for Seventeen Wives and Forty-Four Children—Mis Directions for his Funeral.

Forty-Four Children—Ells Directions for his Funerai.

Brigham Young's will was read on Monday in the presence of all his wives and children and a few friends. Brigham Young, Jr., Geo. O. Cannon and Albett Carrinton are named as his executors. The estate is largely real estate, and is probably worth $2,000,000. The will was made four years ago, and his youngest child, born of Mary Van Cott, was then three years old. Brigham Young was the inther of fifty-six children, and left seventeen wives, sixteen sons and twenty-eight daughters. The will aims to make an equitable division of the property among all the wives and children, with no preference to any. Most of them have already had something deeded to them. On this a valuation was set, and it is to be charged to the recipients as part of their share, though not necessarily at the valuation he put on it. That is to be equitably adjusted when the estate is divided, upon the youngest child coming of age.

Meantime the income is to go to the various mothers according to the number of their children, and they can withhold it if the children behave bedly. All are provided for as far as their present needs are concerned. His first wife and Amelia are given a life interest in the Amelia Palace—a large, modern, new, fine house, but he is known to have changed his mind about that, chiefly because they declined it for reasons best known to themselves, although nothing in or out of the will has as yet come to light showing it, and they are not otherwise provided for, except by their share of the income. The prophet held many interests in trust for the church and for individuals. His executors are directed to turn them over properly. The church is forbidden by law to hold more than $50,000 worth, of

for the church and for individuals. His executom are directed to turn them over properly. The church is forbidden by law to hold more than $50,000 worth of property; and so it was largely held by Brigham Young in trust. His friends will not entertain the notion that he ever abused that trust. There is no inventory of the property on the estate, and it is widely scattered. With the country prosperous and full of money, it would be worth twice the above valuation.

Recently Brigham Young endowed an academy with lands at Provo and another at Logan—the latter with 12,000 acres. He had determined to endow one at Salt Lake, but did not live long enough to do so.

Brigham Young's directions for his foneral, written four years ago, were as follows:

"I want my coffin made of plain one-and-a-quarter red-wood boards, not scrimped in length, but two inches longer than I would measure, and from two to three inches wider than is commonly made for a person of my breadth and size, and deep enough to place me on a little comfortable cotton bed, with a good suitable pillow in size and quality. THE BEST PUMP IN THE WORLD

NOTHING conduces more to GOOD HEALTH than PURE WATER. Such is furnished by the DOUBLE ACTING STONE FORCE PUMP, Manufactured by J. C. Nichols & Bro., Atianta, Ga., which brings the water pure and fresh from the bottom of the well. No slime or filth collects on the pump or in the well. No snails, worms or green more gets about the water. It is free from rust or other impurities, and can be operated by a small child with ease, and brings the water fresher than any other Pump. It is of stone, glazed inside and outside, and never will decay. It improves the water beyond a do't by ventil ing the well, and keeping it like a moving stream of water. With a hose attached, it becomes a good fire-engine, ever ready at your door to extinguish the flames in case of fire. It is better and cheaper than insurance. Its working gives complete satisfaction, as those equainted with it will testify.

It is a home enterprise, permanently established, and relies on its own merits, upon which it asks your paironage. This Pump is represented in Anderson and adjoining Counties, together with the Counties of Hart, Elbert, Wilkes and Oglethorpe in Georgis.

Send in orders at once for Pumps, and they will be delivered and 1-it in immediatel April 5, 1877
